

About CryptoTaxAudit

Founded in 2015, Clinton Donnelly, LLM, EA, created CryptoTaxAudit to assist cryptocurrency traders and investors who file taxes in the United States. CryptoTaxAudit is the first company to offer Audit Defense, a membership-based service which defends U.S. taxpayers, domestically and internationally, during IRS crypto tax audits.

[Extended Description]

Audit Defense is offered as a membership subscription service to U.S. taxpayers. It provides unlimited IRS audit representation services, regardless of the extent of the audit. Rather than paying for unexpected and costly representation services from tax law firms, which range from $20,000 to $100,000 or more, Audit Defense is offered for a regular monthly membership fee.

Features of Audit Defense include:

- Full audit support regardless of the extent of audit defense services required, including expert representation all the way to U.S. Tax Court
- Professional representation provided by qualified in-house staff members who speak with the IRS on your behalf during an audit
- Experienced crypto tax gain calculation performed by in-house analysts and forensic accountants that analyze and find IRS errors
- Aggressive defense against the growing army of IRS auditors who are focused on detecting errors in cryptocurrency tax filings
- Early warning audit alerts, where staff members monitor and report on your IRS transcript changes or pending audits and alert you by email, providing the team with sufficient time to prepare your defense
- Educational materials, updated regularly, to empower members to stay abreast of the IRS's latest notices and requirements
- An opportunity to purchase an Audit Risk Assessment, where the company applies its Bulletproof Crypto Return Methodology™ specifically to the member's unique tax situation, identifying specific risks and recommending activities to maximize the tax savings and audit protection strategies available
